Preamble:
In 2012 the School Leadership Team, comprised of the Executive Leadership Team, House and Assistant House Leaders, Domain Leaders and Curriculum Leaders, developed a framework for the Emerging Leaders Program which is to be implemented in the school in Term 1 of 2013.

Vision and Purpose of the Program:
The Dandenong High School Emerging Leaders Program is designed to promote and recognise the importance of leadership at the school. It does not replace external leadership Professional Development but is intended to complement and further extend the learning and experiences of school leaders and future school leaders. The structure of the program reflects the Distributed Leadership model and the leadership support processes that exist at Dandenong High School. It is specifically tailored to the unique needs of the school and designed to support the implementation and further development of the school Vision. The program has the following aims:

- Build the leadership capacity of current school leaders and future school leaders
- Ensure sustainability in school leadership by identifying staff who have potential or are demonstrating leadership skills or interest in school leadership
- Ensure staff professional growth by providing opportunities for targeted professional learning focussed on leadership
- Communicate a shared understanding of the school Vision and leadership vision throughout the school
- Introduce staff to a greater awareness of “systems knowledge” including; Department operations and procedures in relation to school leadership and application processes for leadership positions outside the school
- Provide a “hands on”, “dynamic” program that provides applicants the opportunity to experience leadership scenarios, situations and what being a school leader actually means at Dandenong High School and develop strong relationships between the House leader and staff members in their House

Program Outline:
The Program will be made up of three distinct but inter-related elements. The participant will need to undertake all three parts of the program and complete assessment tasks related to each element, which includes an Individual Project, a written Reflection to the School Leader and a Group Oral Presentation based upon a scenario task.
